This book is recommended by a family from Ardmore Presbyterian Church. We read it, loved it and then left the book here for YOU to find and to enjoy reading. We hope you are excited about finding a surprise free book!

This book is a children's classic. We believe that good literature widens our hearts. In good literature we learn some of the complexity of human motivations. We learn sympathy for people we might otherwise judge too quickly. We learn the value of friendship, loyalty, kindness, selflessness. We learn the value of people who are undervalued. We learn that moral choices count and that life is full of meaning and purpose. And since a good story involves us so intimately with its characters and its world, we experience these truths very profoundly.
